20 LIVES LOST IN BURLINGTON ROAD WRECK

PASSENGER TRAIN GOES THROUGH A BRIDGE AT MIDNIGHT

Swollen Big Muddy River Near Casper, Wyoming, is Scene of the Accident; Rescue Workers Hindered in Early Morning Hours by High Water

Two Day Coaches, a Mail, a Baggage Car and an Express Car Went Into the Creek, Which is Usually Little More Than a Mere Brooklet

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Thirty-five lost their lives, according to estimates of officials of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad when passenger train number 30 on that road went through the bridge over the swollen Big Muddy river shortly before midnight. Two bodies of trainmen had been recovered at daybreak this morning.

Rescue workers who toiled throughout the early hours of the morning were unable to make much progress due to high water.

Five passengers who escaped from the submerged day coach with minor injuries were being cared for on the east bank of the river by rescue workers sent from here on a special train.

A crew of rescue workers was also engaged on the west bank of the river and had taken seven who were still alive from the muddy water.

The Burlington crosses the Big Muddy near Lockett, about 14 miles from Casper.

Death Toll May Run to 40
The Burlington superintendent in charge of the rescue train telephoned the dispatchers' office here that he believed between 35 and 40 had lost their lives.

Two day coaches, a mail, a baggage car and an express car went into the creek, which is usually little more than a brooklet.

Rain had been falling throughout the day along the head waters of the Big Muddy, but railroad officials did not have a thought that there would be any danger.

Train Running 40 Miles an Hour
Number 30 was travelling about 40 miles an hour when it hit the bridge. Weakened by the rush of water, the bridge crumbled beneath the engine. As the engine nose dived into the deep water and mud, the other cars went over it in leapfrog fashion. One day coach and one Pullman were only partly submerged and passengers who escaped sprawled to the upper end in terrified groups.

Only two coaches of the seven car train failed to go into the water. Charles McLocken of Denver, who escaped from one of the day coaches, said he didn't believe more than 15 in the two coaches were saved.

"I believe there were at least 100 in the coaches," he said.

Train Conductor Believed Lost
The conductor of the train appeared to have lost his life as railroad officials have not heard from him since the wreck. He carried the records, and it will be impossible to check up definitely the number of passengers aboard.

"I was sitting about the middle of the front day coach," McLocken said.

"The train appeared to be travelling at normal speed. Suddenly I felt a jar, and apparently the baggage car in front of our car went into the creek.

"Almost instantly the front end of our car started to tip downward. I jumped to a window and cleared the car just as it became submerged. With a few others I made my way to shore. We helped pull two or three injured from the cars, and then sent couriers to nearby phones to get aid."

The wrecking train appeared at the scene shortly after daybreak. The water was then receding.

MISSING NOW NUMBER TWENTY

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Because of additional survivors today from the wreck of train number 30 on the Burlington railroad, which broke through a bridge 14 miles from here, brought the number of missing to 20.

These are probably dead, in the opinion of C. A. McBride, superintendent in charge of the rescue work.

All members of the train crew, at first believed lost, were found alive in the wreckage just out of reach of the swirling waters of the little mountain stream, swollen to a torrent by a cloudburst. All were seriously injured.

McBride's tabulation showed that of 66 passengers and 6 trainmen aboard the following were saved:

Thirty-two passengers in two rear sleepers which remained on the tracks.

Fourteen passengers who were in two day coaches which tumbled into the creek. Most of these were seriously injured.

The train crew of six.

This leaves 20 still unaccounted for.

TERRIFIC WIND AND RAIN STORM SWEEP NEBRASKA FROM WYOMING LINE

(By United Press)
Omaha, Neb., Sept. 28.—A terrific wind and rain storm swept Nebraska from the Wyoming line almost to the Missouri river, a distance of 450 miles, last night, demolishing wire communication and doing considerable property damage. So far as known there were no casualties.

Twenty-five fruit cars were blown from the Union Pacific tracks. Street signs were blown down and several houses unroofed in Bushnell, Neb., where the storm originated.

The storm swept eastward, the wind diminishing and the rain increasing. At Grand Island, 300 miles east of Bushnell, three inches of rain fell within an hour.

Bolsheviki Act to Take Persian Markets

Moscow, Sept. 28.—Russia is concentrating on trade with Persia, through the Eastern Trading Chamber of Russia. The chamber sent a special expedition to Persia to get acquainted with the needs of that market and also to acquaint the Persian business men with Russian trade methods. This chamber does not itself do any business, but provides business men with information regarding demand, credits and banking.

SOO LINE ADDS TO EARNINGS

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 28.—The Soo Line made a net income of $522,176.82 in August. For the first eight months of the year the total income amounted to $2,968,202. This is an increase of $1,338,067 over the corresponding period in 1922.

These figures were shown in the August financial statement of the railroad issued today.

Gov. Walton Faces Two Serious Threats

COOLIDGE ASKS A NUMBER GOVERNORS TO MEET WITH HIM

ADDRESSES REQUEST TO GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE CONVENING AT WESTBADEN

EXPECTED TO BRING UP QUESTION OF UNIFORM ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION

(By United Press)
Madison, Wis., Sept. 28.—President Coolidge has requested that all governors who attend the governors' conference at Westbaden on October 17, 18, 19, come to Washington immediately following to meet with him.

Miles C. Riley, secretary of the governor's conference here, has received the following telegram from Bascom Slomp, secretary to President Coolidge:

"Will the governors' conference be able to complete their deliberation so as to attend a conference here on Saturday, October 20? Will you advise if Saturday, October 20, would be suitable for a conference here."

Riley replied today, stating that the governors would arrive at Washington at 1:15 p. m. on Saturday. Although it is not definitely known what President Coolidge will take up with the governors, it is thought an attempt to secure uniform enforcement of the prohibition act is one of the chief reasons for calling the state governors to Washington. ready sent requests for reservations.

About fifteen governors have already to Riley, and 20 more have signified that they will attend the conference but have not yet made application for reservations.

For the annual governors' conference the state heads will meet at Indianapolis on October 17 and from there will go to Westbaden where they will hold a three-day conference to discuss problems of national importance.

On Friday evening they will leave by special train for Washington. Governor McCray of Indiana will act as host throughout the conference. Sessions will be held in the luxurious Westbaden Springs Hotel.

NORTHWEST RAILROADS IMPROVE FINANCES

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 28.—Indications that Northwest railroads are gradually regaining their financial footing is shown by the August financial reports.

The Great Northern showed a net income for August of $3,500,799.80. This is $1,202,180 more than their income for August, 1922.

The financial return is said to be the best of any this year and the best monthly report in recent years.

Robt. P. Marshall Co. Announced Bankrupt

(By United Press)
New York, Sept. 28.—The failure of Robert P. Marshall & Co., of 71, Broadway, was announced today from the rostrum of the New York Stock Exchange.

The firm was organized on July 18, 1919.

WARD CASE GOES TO THE JURY

(By United Press)
White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The case of Walter S. Ward, charged with first degree murder for the slaying of Clarence M. Peters, was given to the jury at 12:32 p. m. today. The jury retired immediately.

GERMANY IS JUMPY, FEARS REVOLUTION JUST ROUND CORNER

Berlin, Sept. 28.—Germany today was still jumpy and nervous, fearing a revolution around the corner. Following yesterday's developments in which the Reich government declared limited martial law throughout the nation to offset a similar declaration in Bavaria, the population lived in momentary expectation of an outbreak.

Military rule, if anything, tended to heighten the popular apprehension.

The people seemed to think that the terror of dissolution which has lurked in the back of many Germans' minds ever since the revolution which followed the armistice was about to be realized.

Lasker Urges Modified Merchant Fleet Plan

Washington, Sept. 28.—Modification of the Lasker-Farley plan for operation of the government merchant marine to meet objections set forth by Attorney General H. M. Daugherty in his recent ruling on the plan's legality, has been recommended to President Coolidge by A. D. Lasker, former chairman of the shipping board.

Called to the White House, Mr. Lasker told the president he believed the program would stand all tests if the subsidiary operating organizations were not incorporated.

Incorporation under state laws, proposed in the plan as submitted by Chairman Farley to the board was held by Mr. Daugherty to be illegal.

CARNARVON KIN DIES; TUT'S CURSE IS SEEN

SUPERSTITION THAT PHARAOH EXERTED MALIGN INFLUENCE IS REVIVED

London, Sept. 28.—The superstition that Pharaoh Tutankhamen still exerts a malign influence upon the disturbers of his tomb has been revived by the death in London of the Honorable Aubrey Herbert, half brother of the late earl of Carnarvon.

Mr. Herbert, who died following an operation, did not enjoy a world-wide reputation, but was well known in England as a traveler, diplomatist, linguist, poet, soldier and politician. His friends recall that he strongly objected to the earl of Carnarvon's activities at Luxor, believing it unlucky to interfere with the tombs of the dead.

When the burial chambers of the pharaoh were laid bare, Mr. Herbert remarked: "Something dreadful will surely happen in our family."

Charged With Plot To Defame Character, Attempts Suicide Today

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Robert H. Lee, former deputy sheriff, identified with the plot to defame the character of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, wife of a New York millionaire, today tried to leap from the window of the office of the state's attorney on the sixth floor of the county building.

Detective Murphy who was guarding Lee, and other witnesses grabbed the man and dragged him from the window sill. "I want to end it all," Murphy said Lee told him.

The suicide attempt followed testimony of B. E. First that Lee offered him $1500 and expenses if he would testify that Mrs. Stokes was friendly with a certain negro. First told Assistant State's Attorney Wharton that he refused the offer. A few moments later Lee tried to jump from the window, according to Murphy.

Wharton said today he had found two more witnesses alleged to have sworn to false affidavits connecting Mrs. Stokes with notorious Chicago resorts.

FARM AND LIBERAL BLOCS MAY URGE A "FARM SUBSIDY"

WILL TAKE STEP, IT IS CLAIMED, UNLESS EFFECTIVE HELP IS GIVEN FARMER

SUCH SUBSIDY STEP WOULD WRECK THE GOVERNMENT'S WHOLE BUDGET PLAN

(By United Press)
Washington, Sept. 28.—Unless effective help is rendered the farmer, the agricultural and liberal blocs in congress will get behind a "farm subsidy," taking the money from appropriations for government appropriations.

This is the heroic measure determined on by bloc leaders, who are putting the utmost pressure on the administration to start action on the agricultural problem.

If such a revolutionary step is taken, it would mean wreck of the government's whole budget program and would involve a fight to a knockout between the administration forces and the liberals, who will hold the balance of power in Congress.

Just what form the bill would take has not been determined by bloc leaders, who have discussed the plan, saying they would use it as a last resort, keeping it as a club over the administration to force action instead of more talk and conferences about the farmer.

The idea back of the plan is that no money shall be granted for the budget program until the farmer has been taken care of.

Farm bloc leaders are determined to give Mr. Coolidge a fair chance to canvass the situation and agree with his advisors on a remedy.

They realize he must have some time, but let December come with nothing done and their reprisals will begin.

2 MEN CHARGED WITH MURDERING RAY SMITH, FARMER

(By United Press)
Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 28.—Two men are held in the county jail charged with the murder of Ray Smith three years ago as a result of a verdict of a coroner's jury late yesterday.

The men charged with the murder are Roman Furst and Carl Marwitz. Two others, Fred Marwitz and Leonard Mallinger, are also held in the county jail charged with complicity in the murder.

An inquest by the coroner's jury followed the finding of a skeleton, believed to be that of Smith, on the Peter Engle farm, Cass county, Wednesday.

Johnson Leaves to Speak in New York

Minneapolis, Sept. 28.—Senator Magnus Johnson is leaving Minnesota for New York, where he will make his first public appearance in the east Saturday night. He will speak at Carnegie hall, at a meeting arranged by the Progressive Labor Forum of New York. George D. Brewer, a Nonpartisan league lecturer, is going with Senator Johnson and will appear on the program with him. They are going to Philadelphia to speak Monday night at another meeting under labor auspices. The new senator probably will visit Washington next week before returning to his home.

GOLFER, 70, PLAYS 70 HOLES IN RAIN TO CELEBRATE BIRTH

Des Moines, Sept. 28.—Starting out at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning in a downpour of rain, J. H. P. (Dad) Wickham celebrated his 70th birthday by playing 70 holes of golf over the Hyperion club links here. Wickham consummated the 70 holes in a little less than 10 hours, finishing at 5 p. m., feeling "fresh as a young calf."

He made the 70 holes in 383 strokes, an average of a little less than five and one-half strokes to a hole.

EXAMINE REMAINS FOR POISON TRACES

(By United Press)
White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Toxicologists are making an examination today to determine whether Mrs. Charles Webb, daughter of S. J. Gorman, millionaire, was poisoned or died of natural causes.

Mrs. Webb, a bride of less than a year, died at the Westchester-Biltmore Country club at Rye, N. Y., last Tuesday night. Mr. William Meyer, attending physician, asked that the examination be made prior to the issuance of a death certificate.

The dead woman's viscera was removed and turned over to Dr. Goettler, New York toxicologist, and several other experts on poisons, and their report is expected today or tomorrow. Meanwhile efforts were made to keep the whole affair secret.

CHIPPEWAS TRACED TO ESKIMO ORIGIN

EXPLORER DECLARES PROOFS FOUND LINK RED MEN WITH GREENLAND TRIBE

Copenhagen, Sept. 28.—Birket Smith, who has returned as the first courier from Knud Rasmussen, Arctic explorer, described Rasmussen's route from Cape York. He stayed on a Danish island in the winter of 1921 and January of 1922, and then started west for north Canada. He stayed at Chesterfield Inlet last winter and started this spring for Baker Lake. He found Eskimos named the Willows tribe. He then started for Hikuligjuak lake, and here, too, he found the Willows tribe, descended from Indians.

The language here is the same as in Greenland, although there is no connection between the tribe and Greenland. The tribe never has heard of Greenland, but old myths tell of comrades wandering north to greater hunting fields.

Smith found proofs that Greenlandian Eskimo descended to the Willow tribe, again descending to the Chippewa Indians. The expedition has found proofs that no white Eskimo is living.

Rasmussen's expedition will return next autumn.

Masked Pair Robs 10 On Rail Car Near Minot

Minot, N. D., Sept. 28.—Two men, masked and flashing large pistols, robbed 10 transient workmen, riding on a carload of telephone poles on the Soo line, between Foxholm and Minot, of $100, after compelling the victims to lie face downward on the timber with their hands stretched forward in front of them. The robbery was reported to the Minot police.

N. Y. Papers Abandon Combined Publication

New York, Sept. 28.—New York newspapers abandoned their combined heads yesterday, each paper appearing under its individual heading for the first time since the outlaw strike of pressmen.

BATTLES TO CHECK OKLAHOMA SOLONS FROM A SESSION

ELECTION OCT. 2 PASSES ON LEGISLATURE MEETING WITHOUT GOVERNOR'S CALL

INJUNCTION FILED TAKES UP MILITARY ACTION OF GOV. ERNOR WALTON

(By United Press)
Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—Governor J. C. Walton today faced two serious threats in his battle to prevent the Oklahoma legislature from meeting in extra session to start impeachment proceedings against him.

First is the special election set for October 2 and held to be legal by the supreme court, at which voters of the state will ballot on an initiative law which would permit the legislature to meet in special session without a call from the governor.

Second was the application for an injunction filed in the district court of Oklahoma county, which would prevent military authorities mobilized by Governor Walton to "suppress insurrection and riot" from interfering with the proposed meeting.

Members of the legislature who attempted unsuccessfully to assemble on Wednesday departed for their homes today, where they will await further word from their leaders.

The governor extended the enforcement of drastic martial law to Murray county on appeal from residents of Sulphur, a village of that county.

ASK SUPREME COURT FOR A RE-HEARING

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—The supreme court was today asked by attorneys for Governor J. C. Walton to hold a re-hearing on the legality of the election set for October 2, in which Oklahoma voters would ballot on a law permitting the legislature to meet without call from the governor.

ASK INVESTIGATING WHIPPING OF MINISTER

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—Petitions asking Governor J. C. Walton to order a military investigation into the whipping of Rev. P. J. Irwin, Presbyterian pastor at Lawton, were presented to the executive today by residents of Comanche county.

The petition said that "hooded and masked mobs slugged, gagged, stripped and beat" Rev. Irwin and left him by the roadside when he was thought dead.

Rev. Irwin first attracted national attention when he preached the funeral sermon over Jake Hamon, Oklahoma political leader, slain by Clara Smith.

The petition asks the governor to investigate the outrage. It said the "masked mobs ordered Rev. Irwin to leave the state and never mention the name of Jake L. Hamon again."

NOTHING WRONG WITH STATE EXCEPT GOVERNOR

Minneapolis, Sept. 28.—"There is nothing the matter with Oklahoma except the governor and the newspapers,"

This was the declaration today of Clarence P. Whiteman, Oklahoma City, Okla., president of the National Food Producers association, speaking before the annual convention of the American Specialty manufacturers' convention in Minneapolis.

"Business is good and going on as usual," he said. "Despite what Governor Walton says and the newspapers print, business reflects a sound and satisfactory condition."

GOLFER, 70, PLAYS 70 HOLES IN RAIN TO CELEBRATE BIRTH

Des Moines, Sept. 28.—Starting out at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning in a downpour of rain, J. H. P. (Dad) Wickham celebrated his 70th birthday by playing 70 holes of golf over the Hyperion club links here.

Wickham consummated the 70 holes in a little less than 10 hours, finishing at 5 p. m., feeling "fresh as a young calf."

He made the 70 holes in 383 strokes, an average of a little less than five and one-half strokes to a hole.

EXAMINE REMAINS FOR POISON TRACES

(By United Press)

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Toxicologists are making an examination today to determine whether Mrs. Charles Webb, daughter of S. J. Gorman, millionaire, was poisoned or died of natural causes.

Mrs. Webb, a bride of less than a year, died at the Westchester-Biltmore Country club at Rye, N. Y., last Tuesday night. Mr. William Meyer, attending physician, asked that the examination be made prior to the issuance of a death certificate.

The dead woman's viscera was removed and turned over to Dr. Goettler, New York toxicologist, and several other experts on poisons, and their report is expected today or tomorrow. Meanwhile efforts were made to keep the whole affair secret.

CHIPPEWAS TRACED TO ESKIMO ORIGIN

EXPLORER DECLARES PROOFS FOUND LINK RED MEN WITH GREENLAND TRIBE

Copenhagen, Sept. 28.—Birket Smith, who has returned as the first courier from Knud Rasmussen, Arctic explorer, described Rasmussen's route from Cape York. He stayed on a Danish island in the winter of 1921 and January of 1922, and then started west for north Canada. He stayed at Chesterfield Inlet last winter and started this spring for Baker Lake. He found Eskimos named the Willows tribe. He then started for Hikilugjuak lake, and here, too, he found the Willows tribe, descended from Indians.

The language here is the same as in Greenland, although there is no connection between the tribe and Greenland. The tribe never has heard of Greenland, but old myths tell of comrades wandering north to greater hunting fields.

Smith found proofs that Greenland Eskimo descended to the Willow tribe, again descending to the Chippewa Indians. The expedition has found proofs that no white Eskimo is living.

Rasmussen's expedition will return next autumn.

Masked Pair Robs 10 On Rail Car Near Minot

Minot, N. D., Sept. 28.—Two men, masked and flashing large pistols, robbed 10 transient workmen, riding on a carload of telephone poles on the Soo line, between Foxholm and Minot, of $100, after compelling the victims to lie face downward on the timber with their hands stretched forward in front of them. The robbery was reported to the Minot police.

BATTLES TO CHECK OKLAHOMA SOLONS FROM A SESSION

ELECTION OCT. 2 PASSES ON LEGISLATURE MEETING WITHOUT GOVERNOR'S CALL

INJUNCTION FILED TAKES UP MILITARY ACTION OF GOVERNOR WALTON

(By United Press)

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—Governor J. C. Walton today faced two serious threats in his battle to prevent the Oklahoma legislature from meeting in extra session to start impeachment proceedings against him.

First is the special election set for October 2 and held to be legal by the supreme court, at which voters of the state will ballot on an initiative law which would permit the legislature to meet in special session without a call from the governor.

Second was the application for an injunction filed in the district court of Oklahoma county, which would prevent military authorities mobilized by Governor Walton to "suppress insurrection and riot" from interfering with the proposed meeting.

Members of the legislature who attempted unsuccessfully to assemble on Wednesday departed for their homes today, where they will await further word from their leaders.

The governor extended the enforcement of drastic martial law to Murray county on appeal from residents of Sulphur, a village of that county.

ASK SUPREME COURT FOR A RE-HEARING

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—The supreme court was today asked by attorneys for Governor J. C. Walton to hold a re-hearing on the legality of the election set for October 2, in which Oklahoma voters would ballot on a law permitting the legislature to meet without call from the governor.

ASK INVESTIGATING WHIPPING OF MINISTER

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—Petitions asking Governor J. C. Walton to order a military investigation into the whipping of Rev. P. J. Irwin, Presbyterian pastor at Lawton, were presented to the executive today by residents of Comanche county.

The petition said that "hooded and masked mobs slugged, gagged, stripped and beat" Rev. Irwin and left him by the roadside when he was thought dead.

Rev. Irwin first attracted national attention when he preached the funeral sermon over Jake Hamon, Oklahoma political leader, slain by Clara Smith.

The petition asks the governor to investigate the outrage. It said the "masked mobs ordered Rev. Irwin to leave the state and never mention the name of Jake L. Hamon again."

NOTHING WRONG WITH STATE EXCEPT GOVERNOR

Minneapolis, Sept. 28.—"There is nothing the matter with Oklahoma except the governor and the newspapers."

This was the declaration today of Clarence P. Whiteman, Oklahoma City, Okla., president of the National Food Producers association, speaking before the annual convention of the American Specialty manufacturers' convention in Minneapolis.

"Business is good and going on as usual," he said. "Despite what Governor Walton says and the newspapers print, business reflects a sound and satisfactory condition."

FEW HINTS FOR HUSBANDS

Advice on How to Make One's Wife Perfectly Happy All Through Married Life.

"The secret of success in married life," says a paper, "is to reveal some new trait in your character from time to time."

You see the idea? Don't be all yourself all at once. Spring little surprises on your wife from time to time and spread them over at least fifteen years; that is, if your wife is still alive.

Do not rush matters; wait until things begin to humdrum. Then is the time to reveal the new traits.

For six months—span it out to a year if you can—make happy little quotations from standard authors. Your wife will be delighted to see how well read you are. Buck her up a bit. Wives must be cheered up; after all, she's your wife—she needs it.

When the quotation era falls try something else. Buy a piccolo and a book on how to play it. Learn to play it in your office or on the omnibus.

Then one night, putting your hand in your breast pocket, say, "I've got a little surprise for you, dear." She will think you are only going to give her a diamond necklace, and to her great surprise you will pull out your piccolo and play a little tune.

Do not take any notice of the expression on your wife's face—remember, you have taken her by surprise. Play another tune another day in your study with the door closed and a blanket over the piccolo. Whatever happens, it will be a new trait.

In the meantime you can be secretly perfecting yourself in various conjuring tricks. Practice out in the country with a pack of cards, some rabbits, and a top hat.

Then one evening you will be able to say, "I'll show you a little trick, my dear." Lead the conversation up to cards first. "In memoriam" cards are a good start. Make your wife take a card and look at it. Tell her to put it in the pack again. Then ask her how many spots it has. When she says she has forgotten, do not show any chagrin; you can change it into a rabbit.

If your wife is ill, relieve her tedium by reciting poetry to her. If the servants are ill, too, see to your wife's breakfast cheerily. Bring it to her bedroom cheerily. If her affection wanes, say, "Carissima mia" tenderly one morning. Show her you are a scholar.

Start a beehive next to the window flowers; learn the Treaty of Versailles by heart and explain the reparations problem to her.

The possibilities are endless. Be versatile—ever changing—and at the end of the tenth year, if she has not already got a divorce—well, she ought to, that's all!—London Mail.

If your wife is ill, relieve her tedium by reciting poetry to her. If the servants are ill, too, see to your wife's breakfast yourself. Bring it to her bedroom cheerily. If her affection wanes, say, "Carissima mia" tenderly one morning. Show her you are a scholar.

Start a beehive next to the window flowers; learn the Treaty of Versailles by heart and explain the reparations problem to her.

The possibilities are endless. Be versatile—ever changing—and at the end of the tenth year, if she has not already got a divorce—well, she ought to, that's all!—London Mail.

EVEN THE AUTO

By IDA M. TUPPER

"BET, father, you are so unreasonable! It's just because you have lived on a farm all your life, and are prejudiced against city people. Your ideas are so old-fashioned. Why, father, people in the city simply couldn't exist without automobiles, and as for Vaughn Norwood— Well, I'm sorry to displease you, father, but I have no intention of ending my friendship with him."

After delivering this declaration, Jane Witherspoon, with a defiant toss of her curly head, returned to the cookies she was skillfully cutting for the baking pan. She had recently graduated from college, where according to her father (rated the wealthiest man in the valley) she had acquired "notions."

The deacon's strong aversion for these "new-fangled" city things was demonstrated by his emphatic refusal to buy a car. The faithful mare, Roxy, whom the deacon had raised from a colt, he declared to be plenty fast enough for him, as he had no intention of endangering his life in one of "them thar road wreckers."

Jane's outburst was due to her father's command that she never step foot inside Vaughn Norwood's car, and further, he didn't want the young "whippersnapper" to "set foot on his land." Jane had never defied her parent before, although she had many times been exceedingly annoyed by his exacting prejudices. But this was more than even she could tolerate.

That night as Jane lay dreaming of a wonderful motor trip with Vaughn, crossing the country by gleaming lakes and towering mountains, her father's agitated, "Jane, Jane, come quick—mother—," shattered the dream into grim reality.

The girl was accustomed to such calls, as Nancy Witherspoon, a delicate, flowerlike little woman, had an unruly heart. After a glance at her mother, a brief test of the pulse, Jane ran for the strychnine. Her brain reeled momentarily when she saw the empty bottle. No stimulant, and mother . . . ! Like lightning flashed the only possible chance of saving her beloved parent.

Grasping the telephone, she called the bearer of her father's animosity. "Vaughn, Jane speaking. Rush with strychnine—your car—mother." Her faltering voice told the story, and he needed no further explanation.

Her father, suffering intensely, as his wife was the idol of his heart, groaned in dismay when Jane disclosed the empty phial.

"Oh, Jane, what can we do? There wouldn't be time with old Roxy!"

Jane shook her head in negation.

"I've telephoned Vaughn, father, to rush out in his car. He ought to make it in ten minutes if he can get the medicine."

The man first glared at her, then nodded his head in submission.

As he patted Nancy's ice-cold hand he crooned, "Just hold on a few minutes more, dear, just a few minutes."

She smiled at them wanly and Jane worked over her almost frantically. Would he never come? Nancy grew paler and paler, her breath came in fluttering gasps.

The whirr of an engine, the door opened and Vaughn handed Jane the medicine. She quickly administered to her mother. All enmity was forgotten between Vaughn and Witherspoon in their united efforts to revive Nancy.

After several hours, when life had been restored and his wife was franquilly sleeping, the old man extended his hand to the departing Norwood.

"Vaughn, I've been an obdurate old codger. Boy, I can't thank you— Tears of gratitude trickled down the elder man's wrinkled cheeks as he continued: "You've helped me keep the dearest thing in life to me, and just to get even with you I'll buy one of your ding-busted road-wreckers."

When the Deacon drove out in his new car and announced that Jane was soon to become Mrs. Norwood, the sewing circle held two meetings in one week to fathom out how it ever happened.

But the Deacon knew that "a friend in need is a friend indeed"—even the auto.

How Stars are Made Seen in Hollywood

How motion picture stars are made is definitely shown for the first time in pictures when Paramount's Hollywood, a James Cruze production, comes to the New Park on Saturday and Sunday. "Hollywood," by Frank Condon, tells of ambitious ones who go to the most famous city in the world—and what they see there.

Among their experiences is the signing of a contract with Cecil B. De Mille in the famous room which such stars as Gloria Swanson, Thomas Meighan, Bebe Daniels and Jack Holt entered as players to emerge as stars.

BACTERIA FROM THE RIFLE

Interesting Experiment Proves They Can Be Fired From a Gun Without Apparent Injury.

A singular experiment with bacteria is that of a French investigator, who has proved that those microscopic enemies to human life and health can be fired out of a gun without suffering any apparent injury.

He has infected rifle bullets with bacteria and then fired the bullets into tin boxes filled with a gelatin preparation suitable for the nourishment of the micro-organisms. Upon watching the holes made by the bullets in the preparation, he found that the precise forms of bacteria with which the bullets had been charged rapidly developed there, although it was known that no organisms existed in the gelatin previous to the experiment.

He has even found that a bullet will pick up bacteria from the air during its flight, or from clothing through which it passes, and deposit them, still active and living, in a gelatin target.

Locomotive Pile Driver.

A unique development in mechanical engineering is a locomotive pile driver, in which there is an unusual arrangement and strength of the self-propelling mechanism and in the self-contained hydraulic turntable, whereby the entire machine, including trucks, is quickly lifted clear of the rails and turned end for end. The engines on the car are connected to the axles of ordinary trucks without interfering with the movement of the trucks in turning curves, passing over frogs, and the like. The machine was designed to meet the requirement for a pile driver capable of climbing any grade and hauling its own cars of piles and tools. The self-propelling pile drivers built hitherto have been capable of moving themselves for short distances only.

Shirtmaker to Apollo.

An enterprising haberdasher in Germany has put his knowledge of the classics to excellent use in his advertising. Here are a few specimen ads: "Even Machbeth could sleep in our nightshirts."

"Don Juan would have doubled his conquests by wearing our neckties."

"When Niobe began to weep she ordered six dozen of our handkerchiefs."

"We could have arrayed Solomon in twice his glory."

"Had Lot's wife passed our windows she would have stopped to look no matter what the consequences."

"We made Apollo's shirts."

"Deedemona would never have been careless about her handkerchief had it been one of ours; they are too beautiful."—Boston Transcript.

Pit Apparently Bottomless.

Still Her Small Godchild.

Lord Meath, who was the godson of Mrs. Gladstone, used to say that his godmother was rather vague at times. "On one occasion," he continues, "I received an invitation to dinner from her, written on a half-sheet of paper, and on turning it was a tradesman's bill and across it in red ink were written the words, 'This is the tenth application.' On another occasion, when I was quite grown up, I took the chair at a public meeting and on the platform on one side of me sat my mother and on the other side sat Mrs. Gladstone. She seemed very pleased with the speech I made, and after I had finished my remarks she said to my mother, speaking across me, 'May I kiss him?' and without waiting for a reply she embraced me before the whole meeting. I was still in her eyes the little godchild she had so lovingly watched over from babyhood."

Art of Making Batik.

The two most striking industries of Java are the making of batik and the making of the kris. Every true Javanese that can afford it wears batik head-and-body kain and carries a kris (a weapon with a blade about a foot long) in his belt. Djorka is the center of the batik industry, and the majority of its women are adepts in the production of this artistic fabric.

Batik is cotton cloth on which designs have been printed in a special way. Melted white wax is allowed to trickle from the small end of a funnel upon those portions of the fabric that it is not desired to color, the operation being exactly duplicated on the two sides. This done, the cloth is dipped in the dye vat, withdrawn and hung up to dry, and the wax removed later with the use of boiling water. This series of operations is repeated in the application of each color, till the entire design is transferred.

Certain designs may be worn only by royalty, others by priests, and so on. The designs are of every conceivable description, from conventional flowers and geometrical figures, to jungle scenes and quaint representations of wild beasts.—Detroit News.

Robin Hood Robbed Rich to Feed Poor

According to legend Robin Hood, he of infinite exploits of matchless valor in the days of chivalry eight hundred years gone, hit upon a clever method of avoiding the odium of robbery when he audaciously dedicated himself to the occupation of "robbing the rich to feed the poor."

As played by Douglas Fairbanks in his elaborate screen production, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," a United Artists release coming to the New Park on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, this char-

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1923

MRS. W. H. GEMMELL IS HONORED

AT THE thirty-first session of the Minnesota State Conference of Social Work Mrs. W. H. Gemmell was elected president of the conference. This is a high honor and one to which the president-elect is entitled. Not many are able to deal with the problems that come before the Child Welfare Board with the tact and dispatch which characterizes the work of this splendid woman. The time demanded by this work and the investigation necessary if it is to be done as it must be done, if justice is to prevail and the individual case given the proper amount of appreciation of the underlying circumstances which differ more or less in every case, calls for an expenditure of effort and a sacrifice that can only be appraised by those who have been brought into contact with this phase of the modern social program.

The matters that come before the notice of welfare workers are many and varied. Mothers who need counsel, children who need direction, delinquents who need correction; all of these and many other phases of social work are the care of the Child Welfare Boards of the state. And the conference in Minnesota is not now a conference of one branch of social work but of the workers in many branches whose motive is remedial, helpful and corrective. Probate judges, officials charged with the enforcement of laws relating to children, the Home Service section of the Red Cross, the State Association of County Commissioners, the state committee on Social Legislation, the State Council of Agencies for the Blind and the State Probation association are represented in this conference which brings together workers whose duties are varied but who are working together for the welfare for the communities of the state and therefore in the interests of good citizenship and the protection and benefit of individuals.

The work of the Child Welfare Board in Crow Wing county, under the direction of Mrs. Gemmell, has been carried on with exceptional ability, and in many of the serious matters coming to the attention of the board she had the helpful assistance of Judge J. T. Sanborn whose personal and sympathetic interest in all cases brought to his attention made him a vital factor in forwarding the work of the board. Mrs. Gemmell's work has won proper recognition and the honor that has come to her and to the city of Brainerd through her election to this important position has been won by her through appreciation of and discharge of the duties of leader in the work of the social agencies of Crow Wing county. The honor will entail an additional burden upon a worker whose indefatigable efforts have been noted by those who have been in any way associated with her, and these and others will be ready to offer their services if by their use the work of the president of the State Conference of Social Workers may be lightened.

OUTSIDE INFLUENCES AND EDUCATION.

DR. L. D. COFFMAN, president of the University of Minnesota, in speaking before the State Conference of Social Workers in Duluth last week, stressed the fact that the schools must not become hotbeds of propaganda. In dealing with the encroachments upon the schools of special groups and propagandists he said: "While they (the schools) may and do respond to the pressure of special groups, one of their chief strengths lies in the fact that they do not respond readily and quickly, otherwise they would soon become the victims of propaganda, of reformers, and of the advocates of all sorts of Utopian schemes, and thus their true value would be destroyed. Since social progress and public education have the same ultimate goal, since progress in society and in the school are parallel and mutually reciprocal, the advocates of every type of social program should see that the schools are not diverted from their primary work."

This is an important pronouncement at this particular time. While it is true, as Dr. Coffman pointed out, that the schools which are tax supported must work in harmony with all shades of opinion, it is also true that groups must not be allowed to dominate the life of educational institutions. This is also true of the faculty within the schools. No theory should be exploited to serve the ends of propagandists, and instructors should not be free to attack institutions of good character because they themselves are out of sympathy with them. The schools ought to be places in which teaching is based on evidence and theories submitted for what they are worth and the student should be left free to decide whether the weight of evidence is sufficient to support the theory; theories themselves should not be made supreme but the evidence upon which theories are built.

Just at this time there are suggestions that there is a strong attempt to break into our educational institutions for propaganda purposes. Claims are put forward that attempts are being made to use the schools to sow the seeds of dissatisfaction with the present order of government in the United States, while, on the other hand, Upton Sinclair has recently written a book in which he attempts to prove that the schools of higher education are controlled by the interests of wealth whose propaganda is used within the schools to prevent a proper research into governmental affairs.

Propaganda of this kind has no place in public institutions and neither the disciple of change who seeks to impose his views upon the student nor the apostles of reaction who would prevent research should be allowed to use the schools as a medium for the spread of their propaganda. Because the schools do respond to the influences of groups, citizens must be ready to allow a certain freedom to instructors, so long as these instructors are seeking truth and are not exploiting their own particular theories irrespective of the evidence upon which they must stand or fall.

Neither the saviours of the schools, who would redeem them from their present wrongs, nor the exploiters of the schools who would use them to undermine convictions held by others as to religion or government should be tolerated by that larger group which would have the schools fulfill their legitimate purpose.

GIRAFFE IS TARGET

How Humorists Pick on Maligned Animal.

Not Satisfied After Artists Have Colored Him to Suit Backgrounds.

America has never known a native giraffe, scientists say, though it is admitted that an American parrot was once found and is still preserved, stuffed. Yet the giraffe is rapidly becoming a native American by adoption, and its long neck and remarkable complexion is attaining something of a vogue among the new artists.

In fact, this African animal, with his fondness for the salad in diet, has furnished man with proofs and problems and picture book illustrations since he was first found nibbling a plantain leaf, and it is not strange that at last the artists should seize upon him to use him as the pinnacle of their new color endeavor. His popularity is growing with something of the speed his neck shows when he begins life on this earth.

How the giraffe got his long neck does not interest the artists. They are busy making him strange colors. One artist recently painted him on a vivid green background, in dull orange, with large black sections cut out to represent hexagonal spots. The matter of tail was slightly different from Darwin's remarks on the subject. Not that it mattered. A picture must have balance. So this giraffe wore a tail long and graceful and flowing like the gowns at a kingly coronation and, somehow, one felt that such an animal would make the wilds of Africa really colorful and exciting and worthy of a long trip in the heat.

The artists are not the only ones now finding the giraffe one of our most diverting animals. The writers are also picking him off and turning him to account. George Bernard Shaw in his "Back to Methuselah" discusses this matter of the long neck and the giraffe and seems to lean to the theory that after all the leaves on the lower branches of the trees had been eaten, the animals with the longest necks got the food higher up and that starvation gradually eliminated the short-necked ones, and thus the animal kept growing a longer and longer neck, by natural selection.

The theory, of course, doesn't matter so much. But it is rather painful to find this noble animal also the butt of the humorists. Literature may take him, art may mispaint him, but it seems pitiful that humorists are choosing him to compare him to bottles and other extinct phenomena.

There is something ingenious about the giraffe. Those long forelegs are ungainly and give him an air of helplessness. A certain sculptor has taken advantage of this unfortunate variation of nature and has put heads on his two forehoofs, leaving only the neck reaching up and absorbing luscious leaves. Satire carried to this extent seems a little ungracious in view of this animal's great service to the human race in the theory of evolution.

Not since the camel's coming to help the cartoonists in the problem of prohibition, has an animal done more modern service than has the giraffe. The camel was used to bearing burdens. His humps were provided for that aeons ago. That the burden was a moral one did not matter. But the giraffe is different. There is a delicacy about him. There is something brutal in this sudden attention. —New York Sun and Globe.

Uses for Paper.

Paper has other uses than the common ones for printing purposes, stationery, wrapping parcels, magazines, books, etc. Some of these uses are as important in themselves as the common uses, but none of these approach the latter in the quantity of material consumed. However, these odd uses are of considerable interest. In the electrical industry paper has been used for making insulations of all sorts. In the manufacture of machinery it has been used to make packings for gas engines and hydraulic work, in making calendar rolls, car wheels, pulleys, etc. Articles of everyday use such as spoons, dishes, cups and saucers, suitcases, trunks, table covers and napkins, bags of all descriptions, flowers, wall paper, etc., are made from paper. Paper garments have been known for some time, and in the shoe industry paper is used for making box toes, counters, heel caps, etc.

Bacteria Good and Bad.

As a class bacteria probably form a community with the greatest reputation for evil and probably they deserve it least. They are blamed for almost every form of disease and yet, as among ourselves, the useful members outnumber the criminal by many thousands to one. So closely in appearance do the good bacteria resemble the wicked ones that often it is impossible to distinguish one from the other. They are all very low forms of plant life and work by generating complex "enzymes" which bring about chemical changes. Scientists consider bacteria to be as necessary to human life as air and water! Nature has no greater scavengers for they transform dead bodies and plants by the process popularly known as decay into suitable foods for living plants. They are coming more and more into prominence in industrial process and the expert bacteriologist finds an increased demand for his services.—London Mail.

FINDS CORALS MEAT EATERS

Geological Survey Head Discovers No Vegetation in Whole Colony in the Tortugas.

The builders of coral reefs and islands are entirely meat-eating animals, according to the report of Dr. T. W. Vaughan of the United States geological survey to the Pan-Pacific science congress, which recently held its meeting in the Antipodes, says a Melbourne (Australia) correspondent of the New York Evening Post. In experiments conducted by him in the Tortugas, in the Gulf of Mexico, corals persistently refused a vegetable diet, but even water fleas were not swift enough to dodge the lightning-like tentacles of these carnivorous creatures.

The living coral is a branched colony of individuals all connected together, and with their soft bodies encased in strong shells. Each individual is little more than a stomach, with a mouth surrounded by tentacles and sheltered in a little cup of the limy skeleton within which the whole colony is inclosed.

Doctor Vaughan described how when a little beef juice or a small bit of meat, usually crab flesh or fish, was offered, the tentacles at the outer edge of the colony would begin to appear. Then the stimulus was transmitted to other members of the colony until soon the surface of the specimen had opened out like a beautiful flower. This condition, he explains, seems to indicate that the coral colony is hungry and ready to capture food.

Many different kinds of food were offered corals, Doctor Vaughan said, but they took only animal food. No kind of purely vegetable food was taken by any one of the numerous species investigated. Pieces of plants coated with small animals soaked in meat juice were swallowed, but later the vegetable matter was ejected.

Glycerin Cement.

A powerful cement can be made by mixing glycerin and litharge. A half liter of concentrated glycerin, which does not, however, have to be chemically pure, is mixed with five kilograms of well-dried and finely levigated litharge. One liter is approximately 1.75 pints, and a kilogram equals 2.205 pounds. The mixture solidifies into a solid mass within twenty to thirty minutes. The cement is so hard that it can be removed only by being chipped out with a chisel. It is resistant to water, acids, mild and even caustic alkalis, chlorine, alcohol vapors and ethereal oils. It can be employed on wood, stone, glass, porcelain, metals and other similar materials, as well as in cementing glass to metal. Before the cement is applied, the surface of the materials should be smeared with a little viscous crude glycerin.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1923

MRS. W. H. GEMMELL IS HONORED

AT THE thirty-first session of the Minnesota State Conference of Social Work Mrs. W. H. Gemmell was elected president of the conference. This is a high honor and one to which the president-elect is entitled. Not many are able to deal with the problems that come before the Child Welfare Board with the tact and dispatch which characterizes the work of this splendid woman. The time demanded by this work and the investigation necessary if it is to be done as it must be done, if justice is to prevail and the individual case given the proper amount of appreciation of the underlying circumstances which differ more or less in every case, calls for an expenditure of effort and a sacrifice that can only be appraised by those who have been brought into contact with this phase of the modern social program.

The matters that come before the notice of welfare workers are many and varied. Mothers who need counsel, children who need direction, delinquents who need correction; all of these and many other phases of social work are the care of the Child Welfare Boards of the state. And the conference in Minnesota is not now a conference of one branch of social work but of the workers in many branches whose motive is remedial, helpful and corrective. Probate judges, officials charged with the enforcement of laws relating to children, the Home Service section of the Red Cross, the State Association of County Commissioners, the state committee on Social Legislation, the State Council of Agencies for the Blind and the State Probation association are represented in this conference which brings together workers whose duties are varied but who are working together for the welfare for the communities of the state and therefore in the interests of good citizenship and the protection and benefit of individuals.

The work of the Child Welfare Board in Crow Wing county, under the direction of Mrs. Gemmell, has been carried on with exceptional ability, and in many of the serious matters coming to the attention of the board she had the helpful assistance of Judge J. T. Sanborn whose personal and sympathetic interest in all cases brought to his attention made him a vital factor in forwarding the work of the board. Mrs. Gemmell's work has won proper recognition and the honor that has come to her and to the city of Brainerd through her election to this important position has been won by her through appreciation of and discharge of the duties of leader in the work of the social agencies of Crow Wing county. The honor will entail an additional burden upon a worker whose indefatigable efforts have been noted by those who have been in any way associated with her, and these and others will be ready to offer their services if by their use the work of the president of the State Conference of Social Workers may be lightened.

OUTSIDE INFLUENCES AND EDUCATION.

DR. L. D. COFFMAN, president of the University of Minnesota, in speaking before the State Conference of Social Workers in Duluth last week, stressed the fact that the schools must not become hotbeds of propaganda. In dealing with the encroachments upon the schools of special groups and propagandists he said: "While they (the schools) may and do respond to the pressure of special groups, one of their chief strengths lies in the fact that they do not respond readily and quickly, otherwise they would soon become the victims of propaganda, of reformers, and of the advocates of all sorts of Utopian schemes, and thus their true value would be destroyed. Since social progress and public education have the same ultimate goal, since progress in society and in the school are parallel and mutually reciprocal, the advocates of every type of social program should see that the schools are not diverted from their primary work."

This is an important pronouncement at this particular time. While it is true, as Dr. Coffman pointed out, that the schools which are tax supported must work in harmony with all shades of opinion, it is also true that groups must not be allowed to dominate the life of educational institutions. NOTES FROM THE BIG TEN CAMPS

Illinois

Urbana, Sept. 28.—The first varsity freshman scrimmage was held on Illinois field with members of the class of 1927 showing up some big holes in the first team line. The yearling backs went through the center of the line time and again.

Viv Green, varsity center, is out of the game for some time due to injuries. Roberts, Umnus and Heli are candidates for his place.

Bert Ingwersen's backs showed plenty of speed in plunging through holes made by the young linemen and most of the tackling was done by the second line defense.

A. A. Gruenberg was placed on end. He is a six footer and on the varsity squad last season but was out on account of injuries received early in the season.

Michigan

Ann Arbor, Sept. 28.—An injury to Harry Kipke resulted from the longest and hardest scrimmage of the season. A nerve tendon in the star halfback's ankle was kicked and he had to be assisted from the field. Rockwell, who has been playing quarterback as an understudy for Uteritz, sustained a cut leg. Both Kipke and Rockwell are expected back in a day or two. Contrary to expectations, the squad has not yet been cut and the 50 men were all given a chance today. Grube playing halfback for the reserves, interrupted a number of varsity passes during the game and made some spectacular runs.

Iowa

Iowa City, Sept. 28.—Trampling the scrub line, the varsity tore thru for long gains in the hottest scrimmage that Coach Jones has permitted his men this season. Wesley Fry at quarter went through repeatedly for first down, while Captain Miller bucked the line. The line remained but little changed and is the wall that will probably meet Oklahoma A. & M. Saturday. Hancock and Ott at ends; Kris and Krasinski at tackles; McIntyre and Olson at guards, and Griffin at center. Douber and Fisher were the other two popular choices in the backfield. Coach Jones is still devoting much time to fundamental play at driving both line and backfield into the dummy for long periods.

Wisconsin

Madison, Sept. 28.—A last drive for football material is on at the University of Wisconsin.

The first weeding out process leaves 35 men on the first squad but Coach Jack Ryan is convinced that there are better men going to school if they can be induced to enter the competition for grid places.

Being new at the University of Wisconsin, the coach says he expects to get the first definite lineup of individual ability of players when they meet Coe college in battle in more than a week.

The long promised scrimmages got under way yesterday, with the field newly marked. From now on it is promised, the work will be strenuous, due to the delay in scrimmaging because of the need of much ground-work tutoring.

Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Besides competing for a win against Michigan Aggies at Stagg field Saturday, Maroon footballers will vie with each other for regular berths. Stagg will try out a variety of candidates at tackles. It will be necessary to fill both gaps, since it is unlikely that Frank Gowdy can play. The applicants are practically all sophomores—Hobscheib, Pokrass, Henderson and Straus. It is likely, too, that Stagg will test out several quarterbacks, among whom Law and Helle stand out. "Dutch" Burgess, substitute last year, returned to the Midway yesterday and will be tutored to work at quarter.

John Paul Jones, who was considered a major league prospect two or three years ago, is slipping. The Springfield club let him go and he caught on with Henryetta.

Walter Hupfzinger, the star pitcher of Pennsylvania university, wound up his college career gloriously by beating Dartmouth, 6 to 2, and then left to join the New York Giants.

The Ancient Robby Davis, second baseman, released by Big League of the New York-Pennsylvania league, has found another refuge, the Williamsport club of the same league having taken him on.

Elmer Bowman, the Eastern league champion swatter, made a new league mark for batting recently when in a New Haven-Albany game he got six hits in as many times at bat, including a homer and a double.

MEXICO LIKES YANKEE GAMES

People of Neighboring Republic are Becoming More Sportsmanlike as a Consequence.

I had been greatly impressed with what American sports are doing for young Mexico. American sports are common all over the republic now—basketball, baseball, volley ball, handball, tennis and all the typical American sports.

Even the president has a handball court up at Chapultepec for his eighteen-year-old boy to play on. I asked him if he did not feel that these American sports were going to teach his people how to "play the game."

In Mexico the minute a man is defeated for office or the minute that a brother defeats him in debate or wins a girl from him, that Mexican wants to kill his opponent or start a revolution. They have not learned to be what we Americans call "good sports." American games are teaching them this spirit, says William I. Stodger in the Outlook.

After I had explained what I meant he admitted that my implications and deductions were true and that he had manifested his confidence in the Y. M. C. A., which introduced these sports into Mexico, by giving that American institution a government gift of 25,000 pesos.

"What are your personal sports?" I asked him.

"Billiards and poker," he said, with a smile.

LONDON LOSING ITS VOICE

Famous Old Street Cries of the Metropolis Are Dying Out One After Another.

Even in London, most conservative of cities, one by one the famous old street cries are dying out.

In Shakespeare's day the streets were musical with this chanting of tradesmen, calling their wares, each to his own particular lilting tune. The last to be heard in modern London is that of the lavender peddlers: "Sweet lavender, sweet lavender! 'Won't you buy my sweet lavender? 'Sixteen branches for a penny!'"

It's still heard on the side streets, but its days are numbered. It's easier to walk to a drug store and get moth-balls.

Just as the street cries are dying out, so also are the London flower girls—famous in song and story—disappearing.

Once they were to be seen all over the city—these "girls" whose ages ranged from sixteen to sixty. Piccadilly Circus has been their last stronghold. But there are signs that they're being ousted even from this favored spot. Men, mostly ex-soldiers out of regular jobs, are now selling flowers.

Man-Killing Horse.

What is said to be the strangest manslaughter case ever tried in the criminal courts of the United States is scheduled to be heard in Middlebury, Vt., in the near future. William Hallock, a farmer, is to face a jury on the charge of being responsible for the death of A. W. Woodcock, an eighty-year-old neighbor. The defendant is the owner of a stallion, which broke away and entered the yard of Woodcock, attacking and killing him before any one could come to his aid. The state will contend that Hallock was directly responsible in that he was negligent in not keeping a vicious animal properly restrained. The horse was permitted the freedom of its own barnyard, it is said, but broke from the yard, trotted down the highway and entered the open gate of Woodcock's place. It first attacked Floyd Woodcock and was beaten off with a pitchfork. It then approached the old man, striking him down with its hoofs, causing injuries which resulted in his death.

Following Orders.

He was on sentry duty for the first time. An officer approached. "Halt! Who goes there?" he shouted. "Officer of the day." And the officer continued on his rounds.

But he hadn't gone far when the sentry shouted again: "Halt! Who goes there?"

The officer halted and looked back furiously.

"What's the idea," he snarled, "halting me twice like this? What's the idea?"

"Never you mind about the idea," said the sentry. "My orders is to call 'Halt' three times and then shoot!"

A Novel Fruit.

Satsuma, a variety of orange, is to be introduced to the New York public. It is not entirely novel, but has never been marketed under its own name. A concerted attempt to specialize in this variety is now under way in certain districts of southern Alabama, and arrangements have been made to handle it co-operatively in New York under the name of Satsuma.

Analogous.

"I asked my five-year-old youngster," writes P. W., "if he could tell me why the little hand of a watch goes faster than the big one." His reply was, "I guess it's for the same reason I have to run when I go walking with you, isn't it, daddy?"

That Vague Feeling.

Mrs. A.—Did you ever have the feeling that you had met a person before and perhaps had an unpleasant experience in the dim past?

Mrs. B.—Yes, I sometimes have that feeling when hiring a cook.—Boston Transcript.

Baseball Notes

Jim Riley, Shreveport's first baseman, has been sold to Washington.

With or without Rogers Hornsby, by the way, the Cardinals seem to be losing ball games.

Pitcher Manning of the Philadelphia Americans has been obtained by the Richmond club of the Virginia league.

Hal Chase, former big leaguer, will manage the Nogales International baseball team of Sonora, Mexico, it is said.

Robert Knode of Baltimore, former Michigan university star first baseman, has joined the Cleveland Indians.

Waterbury of the Eastern league announces the purchase of Ramon (Mike) Gonzales from the Toronto Internationals.

Harold F. Gill of Brockton, pitcher for the Holy Cross college baseball club, has signed a contract to pitch for the Cincinnati Reds.

In the major league baseball organizations 60 per cent of the gate receipts go to the home team and 40 per cent to the visiting team.

Second Baseman Gard Gislason, who has got a poor start with Little Rock this year, has been released to the Syracuse club of the International league.

With the pitching staff already crippled the Cincinnati Reds lost another valuable player when Babe Pinch hit was spiked in a game with the Cubs.

The Charlotte club has turned Pitcher Jim Manning back to the Philadelphia Nationals. Last year Manning was a winning pitcher in the Virginia league.

Buy Your Tires from a Firestone DEALER

At the Latest Prices—The Lowest in History

You will find the Firestone Dealer one of the stable business men of your community. He offers a clean, fresh stock, backed by a well organized service. He wants you as a permanent customer.

That is the reason he sells Firestone tires. He knows and has plenty of proof that they are the best tires on the market. He can give you the greatest value and thereby retain your trade for years.

Every day you find new proof of this unequalled value. On the 15th of this month, Firestone Tires set two new dirt track records at Syracuse when Tommy Milton slid around four turns at every mile and covered the 100 miles in 75 minutes, 33 hundredths seconds. He also established a new world's record for one mile by covering it in 42 and 28 hundredths seconds. The next four cars to finish were also equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords. Each one of them went the entire race without a stop. This and every other important race this year was won on Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes. Such performance gives you conclusive proof of their strength and durability.

Not only do race drivers use Firestone Tires as protection to their lives and the surest way to victory, but the largest tire buyers in the world insist on and buy Firestone Tires for economy and service. These buyers include the leading car manufacturers, the biggest commercial car operators and the taxicab and motorbus operators. 57,639,714 tire miles were sold to taxicab and motorbus operators in the month of August.

Think this over. You cannot afford to accept anything less than Firestone service and economy. You can buy this service and economy from any of the dealers listed below.

NOTES FROM THE BIG TEN CAMPS

Illinois

Urbana, Sept. 28.—The first varsity freshman scrimmage was held on Illinois field with members of the class of 1927 showing up some big holes in the first team line. The yearling backs went through the center of the line time and again.

Viv Green, varsity center, is out of the game for some time due to injuries. Roberts, Umnus and Heil are candidates for his place.

Bert Ingwersen's backs showed plenty of speed in plunging through holes made by the young linemen and most of the tackling was done by the second line defense.

A. A. Gruenberg was placed on end. He is a six footer and on the varsity squad last season but was out on account of injuries received early in the season.

Michigan

Ann Arbor, Sept. 28.—An injury to Harry Kipke resulted from the longest and hardest scrimmage of the season. A nerve tendon in the star halfback's ankle was kicked and he had to be assisted from the field. Rockwell, who has been playing quarterback as an understudy for Uteritz, sustained a cut leg. Both Kipke and Rockwell are expected back in a day or two. Contrary to expectations, the squad has not yet been cut and the 50 men were all given a chance today. Grube playing halfback for the reserves, interrupted a number of varsity passes during the game and made some spectacular runs.

Iowa

Iowa City, Sept. 28.—Trampling the scrub line, the varsity tore thru for long gains in the hottest scrimmage that Coach Jones has permitted his men this season. Wesley Fry at quarter went through repeatedly for first down, while Captain Miller bucked the line. The line remained but little changed and is the wall that will probably meet Oklahoma A. & M. Saturday. Hancock and Ott at ends; Kris and Krasuski at tackles; McIntyre and Olson at guards, and Griffin at center. Douber and Fisher were the other two popular choices in the backfield. Coach Jones is still devoting much time to fundamental play at driving both line and backfield into the dummy for long periods.

Wisconsin

Madison, Sept. 28.—A last drive for football material is on at the University of Wisconsin.

The first weeding out process leaves 35 men on the first squad but Coach Jack Ryan is convinced that there are better men going to school if they can be induced to enter the competition for grid places.

Being new at the University of Wisconsin, the coach says he expects to get the first definite lineup of individual ability of players when they meet Coe college in battle in more than a week.

The long promised scrimmages got under way yesterday, with the field newly marked. From now on it is promised, the work will be strenuous, due to the delay in scrimmaging because of the need of much ground-work tutoring.

Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Besides competing for a win against Michigan Aggies at Stagg field Saturday, Maroon footballers will vie with each other for regular berths. Stagg will try out a variety of candidates at tackles. It will be necessary to fill both gaps, since it is unlikely that Frank Gowdy can play. The applicants are practically all sophomores—Hobbscheib, Pokrass, Henderson and Straus. It is likely, too, that Stagg will test out several quarterbacks, among whom Law and Heile stand out. "Dutch" Burgess, substitute last year, returned to the Midway yesterday and will be tutored to work at quarter.

John Paul Jones, who was considered a major league prospect two or three years ago, is slipping. The Springfield club let him go and he caught on with Henryetta.

Walter Hupfzinger, the star pitcher of Pennsylvania university, wound up his college career gloriously by beating Dartmouth, 6 to 2, and then left to join the New York Giants.

The Ancient Robby Davis, second baseman, released by Blaghamton of the New York-Pennsylvania league, has found another refuge, the Wil-Hamport club of the same league having taken him on.

Elmer Bowman, the Eastern league champion sweater, made a new league mark for batting recently when in a New Haven-Albany game he got six hits in as many times at bat, including a homer and a double.

MEXICO LIKES YANKEE GAMES

People of Neighboring Republic are Becoming More Sportsmanlike as a Consequence.

I had been greatly impressed with what American sports are doing for young Mexico. American sports are common all over the republic now—basketball, baseball, volley ball, handball, tennis and all the typical American sports.

Even the president has a handball court up at Chapultepec for his eighteen-year-old boy to play on. I asked him if he did not feel that these American sports were going to teach his people how to "play the game."

In Mexico the minute a man is defeated for office or the minute that a brother defeats him in debate or wins a girl from him, that Mexican wants to kill his opponent or start a revolution. They have not learned to be what we Americans call "good sports." American games are teaching them this spirit, says William I. Stidger in the Outlook.

After I had explained what I meant he admitted that my implications and deductions were true and that he had manifested his confidence in the Y. M. C. A., which introduced these sports into Mexico, by giving that American institution a government gift of 25,000 pesos.

"What are your personal sports?" I asked him.

"Billiards and poker," he said, with a smile.

LONDON LOSING ITS VOICE

Famous Old Street Cries of the Metropolis Are Dying Out One After Another.

Even in London, most conservative of cities, one by one the famous old street cries are dying out.

In Shakespeare's day the streets were musical with this chanting of tradesmen, calling their wares, each to his own particular lifting tune.

The last to be heard in modern London is that of the lavender peddlers: "Sweet lavender, sweet lavender! 'Won't you buy my sweet lavender? 'Sixteen branches for a penny!"

It's still heard on the side streets, but its days are numbered. It's easier to walk to a drug store and get mothballs.

Just as the street cries are dying out, so also are the London flower girls—famous in song and story—disappearing.

Once they were to be seen all over the city—these "girls" whose ages ranged from sixteen to sixty. Pleadably Circus has been their last stronghold. But there are signs that they're being ousted even from this favored spot. Men, mostly ex-soldiers out of regular jobs, are now selling flowers.

Man-Killing Horse.

What is said to be the strangest manslaughter case ever tried in the criminal courts of the United States is scheduled to be heard in Middlebury, Vt., in the near future. William Hallock, a farmer, is to face a jury on the charge of being responsible for the death of A. W. Woodcock, an eighty-year-old neighbor. The defendant is the owner of a stallion, which broke away and entered the yard of Woodcock, attacking and killing him before any one could come to his aid. The state will contend that Hallock was directly responsible in that he was negligent in not keeping a vicious animal properly restrained. The horse was permitted the freedom of its own barnyard, it is said, but broke from the yard, trotted down the highway and entered the open gate of Woodcock's place. It first attacked Floyd Woodcock and was beaten off with a pitchfork. It then approached the old man, striking him down with its hoofs, causing injuries which resulted in his death.

Following Orders.

He was on sentry duty for the first time. An officer approached. "Halt! Who goes there?" he shouted. "Officer of the day." And the officer continued on his rounds.

But he hadn't gone far when the sentry shouted again: "Halt! Who goes there?"

The officer halted and looked back furiously.

"What's the idea," he snarled, "halting me twice like this? What's the idea?"

"Never you mind about the idea," said the sentry. "My orders is to call 'Halt' three times and then shoot!"

A Novel Fruit.

Satsuma, a variety of orange, is to be introduced to the New York public. It is not entirely novel, but has never been marketed under its own name. A concerted attempt to specialize in this variety is now under way in certain districts of southern Alabama, and arrangements have been made to handle it co-operatively in New York under the name of Satsuma.

Analogous.

"I asked my five-year-old youngster," writes P. W., "if he could tell me why the little hand of a watch goes faster than the big one." His reply was, "I guess it's for the same reason I have to run when I go walking with you, isn't it, daddy?"

That Vague Feeling.

Mrs. A.—Did you ever have the feeling that you had met a person before and perhaps had an unpleasant experience in the dim past?

Mrs. B.—Yes, I sometimes have that feeling when hiring a cook.—Boston Transcript.

FROCKS THAT ADROITLY FLATTER THE AWKWARD AGE

THE problem presented in properly outfitting the early teens is always difficult, but with so many designers turning their attention to the "awkward age" it is always possible to find something in smart outfits that modify the sharp angles of early youth and combine simplicity with that touch of sophistication so ardently desired by the wearer. The two frocks shown above illustrate how effectively the new styles are bridging the gap between Miss Twelve and Miss Sixteen.

At the left a little dress of crepe de chine has its simple line relieved with double rows of deep plaited ruffles about the skirt and a large square bertha of lace trimmed with ribbon rosettes and long streamers. The blouse is made full and is gathered at the waist with a ribbon belt. The slashed sleeves have a picot edge and are laced with narrow ribbon. They are finished with very deep plaited ruffles.

Crepe de chine is also used in the dress shown at the right in a party frock having wide panels of narrow plaits at the front and back. This is a one-piece slipover model with kimono sleeves and a belt of wide two-tone ribbon. The short sleeves are edged with ribbon and cut in a point which is turned back and fastened with a little silk ball. Two narrow ribbons of crepe de chine are tied over the belt at the right side and are finished with silk balls at the ends.

Dotted swiss in darker tones such as navy and wine is combined with Irish, venice, valenciennes and filet laces in summery frocks for the subdued, the lace being used as the only trimming. In this use it serves to bring out the white of the dots very effectively. Berthas are now being adopted even on the most juvenile styles, being plain where the dress is ornate or deeply plaited and edged with lace when used with a severely plain frock.

Thought He Got Off Lightly.

The town bum had been arrested on suspicion, as he always was when a minor crime had been committed in Hickville. On the most recent occasion Zeke was defended by a young lawyer who was making his maiden speech. The case was lost and Zeke was sentenced to ten days and fined ten dollars. "Thanks, Mr. Judge," said Zeke with a relieved countenance and better courtroom presence than was usual. "Thank me," bellowed the judge, suspecting sarcasm. "What do you thank me for?" But Zeke was innocent of witticism. "I sure thought my character and that boy's pleadin' would hang me."

The Cost of Silver Money.

The government makes a profit, known as "seigniorage," from its subsidiary silver coins because the face value of the coins is greater than the value of the silver in them. At $1 an ounce for silver, the cost of silver in a dollar (face value) of subsidiary coins is about 72 cents. At the market price of 65 cents an ounce for silver the government will pay about 48 cents for the silver in a dollar (face value) of coins. In other words, the seigniorage will increase from 28 cents to 52 cents and there will be additional profit of 24 cents on every dollar (face value) of subsidiary coins minted.—Time.

Household Suggestions

Hot Buns, Hot Plates

Always serve hot biscuits, or hot pastries on warmed plates. Placing hot pastries on cold dishes will make the lightest and best soggy.

Quickens the Process

If you wish gelatine to set quickly add only half of the liquid boiling hot, and after the gelatine is dissolved add the rest of the liquid, as cold as possible. This will greatly quicken the solidifying process.

Careful of Jack Frost

Don't leave the plants out on the porch over night when the days begin to get a bit cold. Bring them in before Jack Frost has a chance to nip them and you will have porch decorations for another year.

Saves Mending

If the panels on your dress are tacked to the bottom of your skirt you are almost certain to catch them and tear them. Use clasps to hold them under the hem and then if they are pulled they will only become unfastened.

Cuts the Grease

A piece of flannel dipped in kerosene will remove the grease from the sink. Then wash with warm water and soapuds and, finally, let the cold water run for a few minutes so the drain pipes will be cleaned as well as the sink.

Rich Gravy

While cornstarch is more expensive than flour, it makes a much smoother gravy when it has been added to a quantity of liquid, such as in stews and pot-roast.

Ease While Sewing

If you do a great deal of sewing it will ease your arms if you place a pillow in your lap and put your sewing on it. The slight raise seems to be just what one needs.

Warmed-up Roast

When re-heating the left-over roast in the oven wrap it in thickly greased paper and let it heat slowly in this. The meat will not get hard

Arnold Burned in Effigy.
The feeling against Benedict Arnold, traitor, was particularly strong in Philadelphia, and in September, 1780, the people were called out to join in a popular demonstration against the man who had once been the military ruler of the community.
His effigy, in full regimentals, was placed in a cart and drawn through the city to be afterward burned in effigy on High street hill. The mock Arnold had two faces and a mask in his left hand. Near him was the devil, in black robes, holding out to him a purse of money. There were a number of banners containing pictures and letters describing the conspiracy.
The procession was headed by a line of Continental officers and by a guard of city infantry. There was a band of music playing the "Rogue's March." A funeral pile had been arranged at the head of the hill, and here in the midst of an immense crowd, the mock Arnold was burned.

Slice off the tops of new potatoes, dig out some of the potato and place in the cavity a slice of bacon and a lump of butter. Put back the tops of the potatoes with toothpicks and bake.

A New Button Box

A wide-mouthed glass jar is a fine receptacle for buttons. One can view the contents from the outside and a great deal of searching is avoided when looking for a particular style of button.

The two frocks shown above illustrate how effectively the new styles are bridging the gap between Miss Twelve and Miss Sixteen.

At the left a little dress of crepe de chine has its simple line relieved with double rows of deep plaited ruffles about the skirt and a large square bertha of lace trimmed with ribbon rosettes and long streamers. The blouse is made full and is gathered at the waist with a ribbon belt. The slashed sleeves have a plait edge and are laced with narrow ribbon. They are finished with very deep plaited ruffles.

Crepe de chine is also used in the dress shown at the right in a party frock having wide panels of narrow panels at the front and back. This is a one-piece slipover model with kimono sleeves and a belt of wide two-tone ribbon. The short sleeves are edged with ribbon and cut in a point which is turned back and fastened with a little silk ball. Two narrow ribbons of crepe de chine are tied over the belt at the right side and are finished with silk balls at the ends. Dotted swiss in darker tones such as navy and wine is combined with Irish, venice, valenciennes and fillet laces in summery frocks for the subdued, the lace being used as the only trimming. In this use it serves to bring out the white of the dots very effectively. Berthas are now being adopted even on the most juvenile styles, being plain where the dress is ornate or deeply plaited and edged with lace when used with a severely plain frock.

Household Suggestions

Hot Buns, Hot Plates

Always serve hot biscuits, or hot pastries on warmed plates. Placing hot pastries on cold dishes will make the lightest and best soggy.

Quickens the Process

If you wish gelatine to set quickly add only half of the liquid boiling hot, and after the gelatine is dissolved add the rest of the liquid, as cold as possible. This will greatly quicken the solidifying process.

Careful of Jack Frost

Don't leave the plants out on the porch over night when the days begin to get a bit cold. Bring them in before Jack Frost has a chance to nip them and you will have porch decorations for another year.

Saves Mending

If the panels on your dress are tacked to the bottom of your skirt you are almost certain to catch them and tear them. Use clasps to hold them under the hem and then if they are pulled they will only become unfastened.

Cuts the Grease

A piece of flannel dipped in kerosene will remove the grease from the sink. Then wash with warm water and soapsuds and, finally, let the cold water run for a few minutes so the drain pipes will be cleaned as well as the sink.

Rich Gravy

While cornstarch is more expensive than flour, it makes a much smoother gravy when it has been added to a quantity of liquid, such as in stews and pot-roast.

Ease While Sewing

If you do a great deal of sewing it will ease your arms if you place a pillow in your lap and put your sewing on it. The slight raise seems to be just what one needs.

Warmed-up Roast

When re-heating the left-over roast in the oven wrap it in thickly-greased paper and let it heat slowly in this. The meat will not get hard

Arnold Burned in Effigy.
The feeling against Benedict Arnold, traitor, was particularly strong in Philadelphia, and in September, 1780, the people were called out to join in a popular demonstration against the man who had once been the military ruler of the community.
His effigy, in full regimentals, was placed in a cart and drawn through the city to be afterward burned in effigy on High street hill. The mock Arnold had two faces and a mask in his left hand. Near him was the devil, in black robes, holding out to him a purse of money. There were a number of banners containing pictures and letters describing the conspiracy.
The procession was headed by a line of Continental officers and by a guard of city infantry. There was a band of music playing the "Rogue's March." A funeral pile had been arranged at the head of the hill, and here in the midst of an immense crowd, the mock Arnold was burned.

Hat Principal Attraction.
Pastor—I was so sorry for your wife during the sermon this morning, Doctor. She had such a dreadful fit of coughing that the eyes of the whole congregation were fixed upon her.
Doctor—Don't be unduly alarmed. She was wearing her new hat for the first time.—Judge.

Handy With an Excuse.
Jealous Wife—You ought to be ashamed at your age, running after pretty women.
Hub—My dear, that ought to put you at your ease—it proves, doesn't it, that they are trying to get away from me? —Boston Transcript.

KATZ BUILDING IS MOVED BLOCK SOUTH

Fordson Tractor Used In Work of Transferring the Structure

QUICK WORK MADE OF THE JOB

Building Was Originally a Part of the Old South Sixth Street School

The two-story house on the former Charles Katz property on South Seventh street has been moved to a new location on the same street in the next block south.

The moving was accomplished with a Fordson tractor, furnished by the Woodhead Motor Company, making quick work of the transfer.

This building is a part of the old South Sixth street school, and is therefore one of the old landmarks of the city. When the school was dismantled over twenty-two years ago, this portion was converted into a kind of apartment house and has been used as such ever since.

When it was decided to abandon the school building, it was offered for sale to the highest bidder, and A. F. Sorenson, deceased, was the successful man.

The main part of the building Mr. Sorenson tore down, using the best of the lumber for building his home on Fir street. The wing of the school he sold to Ole Nelson for two hundred dollars, and he in turn sold it to Mr. Kaatz. It is said, who moved it to South Seventh street where it has since stood.

Wm. Graham purchased the property from the Katz estate and sold the lots to the Standard Lumber Company. The building will be used as a dwelling in its new location.

Otto Wendt Funeral

The funeral of Otto Wendt, one of the victims in Monday's accident, was held from the German Evangelical church on Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

The attendance was exceptionally large, as well as Mr. Wendt known both in the city and in the country.

Rev. Heitke officiated and paid a moving tribute to the deceased, for his many sterling qualities, as a husband and father, a neighbor and friend.

The pallbearers were chosen from among the intimate friends of Mr. Wendt's and included Ernest Kleinschmidt, Alex. Anderson, Louis Wohl, Wallace Smart, John Erickson and L. E. Wallace. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

CHAS HENDRICKS DIED

Well Known Aitkin Farmer Tased Away at a Local Hospital

Charles Hendricks, of Aitkin, and known as one of Aitkin's best farmers, died in a Brainerd hospital Friday morning, death resulting from appendicitis. He was 68 years of age, and had long been a resident of Aitkin county.

The body will be taken to his home this afternoon for burial.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank friends and neighbors, mill men and log workers, and others for the kindness and sympathy shown us upon the death of husband and father. We are also grateful for the flowers.

Mrs. George Ledoux and family.

THE GREY SHOPPE

Brainerd's Latest Addition to Ladies Style Emporiums Located in Koop Block

The Grey Shoppe, Brainerd's latest addition to My Lady's style emporiums, is now nicely settled in most suitable quarters in the new Koop block, facing on Laurel street.

Mesdames R. H. McKay and A. E. Fredstrom are doing their utmost to meet the style demands in their line, and the ladies of the city will find a nice assortment and many reasonable suggestions in a visit there.

The Grey Shoppe features millinery, and ladies dainty undergarments. Gage and Fisk hats will be carried, conceded to be among the best lines on the market.

It is the intention of the proprietors to handle a very complete line of ladies ready-to-wear, including dresses in a wide range of prices and materials, sweaters, skirts, blouses, etc. This department will be established just as quickly as the fixtures can be put in place.

The Shoppe will make a specialty of assisting the ladies of Brainerd in solving their Christmas problems this season. A nice assortment of hand-made undergarments are already on display, and the proprietors are adding to the stock as rapidly as possible. They are prepared to make up special orders in this line which will be most suitable for holiday gifts.

Service and satisfaction is the keynote of the Grey Shoppe's policy, and patrons are promised an agreeable surprise in their visits to this establishment.

A special sale of fall and winter hats is scheduled for Saturday with the idea of adding more friends to the list of satisfied patrons.

WESTMINSTER GUILD

Entertained for Rev. and Mrs. S. M. Kelly at 6 O'clock Dinner on Wednesday Evening

The Westminster Guild of the Presbyterian church, a young woman's missionary organization, entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner for Rev. and Mrs. Kelly on Wednesday evening at the home of the Misses Alma and Georgia Brown, 512 North 7th St.

The home was very prettily decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. The three course dinner was prepared and served by Guild members and was greatly enjoyed by all. During the evening Master Jimmie Kelly told of his summer's experiences in a most entertaining manner after which the time was spent in music.

Rev. and Mrs. Kelly were presented with a framed sketch of Wallace Nutting's, by the Guild and a half dozen hand painted plates from friends in the Sunday school.

Mrs. Kelly has been patroness of the Guild and through her help and pleasing manner has endeared herself to all. She will be greatly missed but what is our loss is another's gain, so we send both Rev. and Mrs. Kelly to their new field with best wishes and many thanks for their faithful service and loyalty to the work of the church.

Barber-Erath

Harvey Sherwood Barber and Miss Ruth Erath, both of Bay Lake, were united in marriage Thursday afternoon at the parsonage of the First Congregational church, Rev. Fred Errington officiating.

The witnesses to the pleasing ceremony were Mrs. Isabell J. Stafford and Walter H. Stafford, also of Bay Lake.

Riccardo Martin

Eminent Tenor to be Heard in Recital at Brainerd October 14

In Riccardo Martin, the great tenor who comes here in recital Sunday, October 14th, will be found a man's man, if ever there was one. Some people have the idea that because a man gets up and sings in recital, or plays at a concert, he must needs be an effeminate sort of person. Not so Riccardo Martin.

"Every singer," says Mr. Martin, "should keep in the open as much as possible. A brisk walk of a couple of miles in all sorts of weather never fails to give an artist the proper spirit to work with. Rowing, fencing, boxing and a tramp through the woods are needed to keep one in trim. Good books are all right to improve the mind, but a healthy body helps one to enjoy a good book. Never make your vocal lessons a task. Make them a pleasure. Get true enjoyment out of all you do."

Mr. Martin's superb voice is used not only in operatic and concert work, but is often heard rooting at a baseball game, and one of his favorite diversions is a boxing exhibition. His accompanist, Hubert Carlin, ranks high in the musical world, and will be remembered by his masterly accompaniments played for the violinist, Isador Berger, and also his solo work. He will be heard in four solo numbers on Mr. Martin's program.

AMERICAN LEGION

At Regular Meeting, Monday Evening, Complete Ritual Will be Used

The regular meeting of the American Legion is scheduled for Monday night. At a meeting of the executive committee on Thursday evening, a fine program was outlined. The complete ritual will be used on Monday night, which, since the last convention has become compulsory in each post. Members of the Legion are asked to bear in mind the date and be present. A large attendance is desired, as important business will come before the meeting.

Clara Lutheran Church

The confirmation class for the coming year will be organized tomorrow (Saturday) at ten o'clock. Instruction will be given both in Swedish and English, said the pastor, August Samuelson.

Dorcas Society

The Dorcas society of the Swedish Bethany church meets this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lund, 415 Third Avenue Northeast. A hearty welcome is extended all members and friends of the society.

FIRPO REALLY KNOCKED OUT IN FIRST

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 28.—No loser ever won more prestige or earned more glory in defeat than Luis Angel Firpo did when he was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in a fight that for thrills, action and savage fighting surpassed any drama ever enacted in a ring or on the stage.

Rather unfortunately for him, Firpo was not restrained by his advisors from making some alibis about the referee that, even if they were true, retracted somewhat from the sportsmanship that the Argentine was thought to have possessed.

Firpo did not need an alibi for the showing he made in the ring against the champion. He was not expected to make any excuses for a showing that was the bravest and most gallant that a fighter has ever shown in such an important contest.

When Firpo said that he was fouled twice by Dempsey he was partially right. Dempsey did hit him once on the breakaway; Dempsey did hit on one occasion when the round had ended, and the champion may have punched him once before he was back in a fighting position after a knockdown.

Firpo should have known, however, that the infractions of the rules were staged when both fighters were in such a frenzy of excitement and when they were both punched so dizzy that they had no idea that rules ever existed and when they were influenced only by the savage dictates of self-preservation.

Perhaps Firpo does not know it, because he admitted after the fight that he did not hear the timekeeper counting at any time during the bout, but Firpo should take the word of unprejudiced writers in the press-box who KNOW that he was knocked out in the first round before Dempsey had done anything about which he complained.

Early in the first round, Firpo was on the floor for the count of ten. He was not declared out because the new system of counting established in New York failed to work perfectly under the stress and intense excitement of the moment.

There are two timekeepers at the ringside, as provided for in the New York rules. One handles the bell and the other timekeeper arises on a knockdown and calls the count from his watch. The referee follows the count of the timekeeper.

When Firpo went to the floor this particular time, the timekeeper reached ten, beyond all question of doubt. He hesitated then, apparently expecting the referee to declare: "Out." The referee looked at the timekeeper and just as apparently thought that it was his duty to declare the fight ended.

In that second or two of hesitation, Firpo arose to his feet and the fight went on, although he had been really knocked out.

Dempsey's offense in hitting Firpo on the breakaway did not make him liable for disqualification. Both fighters were told, even if it should have been unnecessary, that they were to defend themselves at all times, and when Firpo failed to do so, it was his own fault.

The champion could have been disqualified for not going to a neutral corner after each down and for striking Firpo after the bout had ended the first round. However, the referee did not discriminate against Firpo in failing to declare Dempsey the loser on a foul.

It was just as apparent to the ringsiders as it was known by the referee that Dempsey was not in full possession of his faculties. It was realized that he hadn't heard the bell in the first round and that his head was so clouded that he couldn't find his corner until one of his seconds came out after him.

HORSESHOE LOVING CUP WON BY THE PELICAN LAKE CLUB

The horseshoe loving cup which is put up each year by the County Fair Board, was won this year by the Pelican Better Farming Club, Sigurd Brenno and H. O. Larson forming the winning team.

Last year the cup was won by the Whitefish Lake Farm Bureau Unit, with E. J. Houge and Glen Ross as the successful pitching team.

The cup will be put up each year, and becomes the permanent property of the farm club which wins it three consecutive times.

It is a prize well worth a special effort on the part of each club. Made of bronze and lined with gold it presents a very fine appearance. On one side in silver relief stands a pitcher in the act of throwing a shoe.

Each year the name of the winning club, with the names of the team representing it, are to be engraved on the cup, adding thereby to its value as a trophy.

BUT ONE MORE VICTORY NEEDED TO CLINCH PENNANT

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 28.—Needling but one victory to attain the "mathematical certainty," the New York Giants will have their first chance to clinch the National League pennant when they face the Brooklyn Robins here this afternoon.

BRAINERD PLAYS ST. CLOUD TODAY

Rival High School Football Teams to Clash at 3 P. M. This Afternoon

Brainerd high clashes with St. Cloud high football team at St. Cloud at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The following story is from the St. Cloud Times:

The Lineup

St. Cloud—	Brainerd—
Pung	LE
Campbell	LT
Weyrens	LG
Barr	C
Kuffel	RG
Riley	RT
Neuhaus	RE
Stensrud	QB
Olds	LHB
Schoener	RHB
Rengle	FB

Whatever else the Tigers do in their game against Brainerd Friday, they will keep their forward wall intact. It will take a mighty backfield man to puncture the Orange and Black line judging from the way it is being built by the Tech High school mentors. Every lineman, from end to end, is being drilled in the fundamentals of defense work. Whether the catches expect Brainerd to spring a strong line attack is a question. At any rate the Tigers will not be caught unaware if the line plays are uncoordinated.

Line is Faster

The Tiger forward wall has been speeded up a lot. It is charging lower, faster, and more fiercely. It is setting the men out, and the backs are getting through. It is getting thru on defense to block line smashes before they get to the line, and to spill trick plays before they get a chance to straighten out.

The Tiger backfield, drilled thus far chiefly in offense, last night was put on secondary defense work. It got the gist of the formations in rapid order.

Two Changes

In the brief scrimmage last night, lasting only about 20 minutes, two changes appeared in the Tiger lineup. They were Pung playing at end in place of Linnemann, and Kuffel taking Pung's place at guard. It is not unlikely that this combination will face Brainerd Friday for the initial quarter of the tilt at least. Pung, with his weight and speed, has been playing a good game at the wing, and looks as though he might qualify for a regular. Kuffel in the line at guard seems to know his stuff and is holding his own.

Neuhaus All Right

George Neuhaus, who has been more or less saved from injury because of recent illness, appeared to be in good shape again last night when the coaches put him at his regular post at right end.

Brainerd has a light team, with the line averaging only 140 pounds and the backfield only 145. The Tigers will outweigh the visitors 15 pounds to the man.

FIGHT RESULTS

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 28.—Floyd Johnson, Iowa pugilist and contender for the heavyweight championship, won a comparatively easy victory over Willie Meehan, veteran Pacific coast fighter, here. Johnson was given the decision at the end of four rounds, in which Meehan was knocked down once and shoved to the canvas a few moments later.

In the second and third rounds Meehan rallied, after Johnson had mauled him badly in the first and he carried the fight to his opponent for a few minutes. In the final round, however, Johnson rolled up points easily, and Meehan was tired and winded when the bout ended.

Ray Pelkey and Young Fisher fought a four round draw. They are middleweights.

Eddie Kelly had little difficulty in disposing of Teddy Seidman in a four round special event. The men are bantamweights.

Dandy Dillon Disqualified

Seattle, Sept. 28.—Dandy Dillon of Minneapolis must give up $100 to the community fund of this city, ruled the Seattle boxing commission. This is a penalty for butting, for which Dillon was disqualified in a bout here awarded to Tod Morgan of Vallejo, Calif., Pacific coast featherweight champion.

Naval Air Trophy, The Schneider Cup, Won by Us Today

(By United Press)

Cowes, England, Sept. 28.—The United States won the Schneider cup, the world's first naval air trophy, here today.

An American seaplane covered the course in 72 minutes, 26 4-5 seconds. This is the first time the United States has won the cup.

The winning seaplane was piloted by Lieut. Irwin D. Rittenhouse, U. S. Navy. There were two American starters, one French and one British. The British pilot, Baird, was disqualified for leaving the water before crossing the starting line.

The United States originally had four entries, with Lieuts. Frank W. Rutledge, Rittenhouse, Adolphus Gordon and Charles Fox, but one of the planes, a 700 horsepower Navy-Wright racer, crashed in the trials Monday and did not start.

Won First and Second Places

Cowes, England, Sept. 28.—The United States Navy won first and second places in the international seaplane race for the Schneider cup here today.

Lieut. David Rittenhouse was first and Lieut. Rutledge Irvine second. The sole British entrant, Capt. Baird, finished third.

The winner's time over the course of 200 nautical miles was one hour, 12 minutes, 26 4-5 seconds. His fastest speed was 177.38 miles an hour, or 39 miles an hour faster than the previous record.

Gentleness Always Best.

Gentleness is far more successful in all its enterprises than violence; indeed, violence generally frustrates its own purpose, while gentleness scarcely ever fails.—Locke.

Kuffel in the line at guard seems to know his stuff and is holding his own.

Neuens All Right

Geirge Neuens, who has been more or less saved from injury because of recent illness, appeared to be in good shape again last night when the coaches put him at his regular post at right end.

Brainerd has a light team, with the line averaging only 140 pounds and the backfield only 145. The Tigers will outweigh the visitors 15 pounds to the man.

FIGHT RESULTS

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 28.—Floyd Johnson, Iowa pugilist and contender for the heavyweight championship, won a comparatively easy victory over Willie Meehan, veteran Pacific coast fighter, here. Johnson was given the decision at the end of four rounds, in which Meehan was knocked down once and shoved to the canvas a few moments later.

In the second and third rounds Meehan rallied, after Johnson had mauled him badly in the first and he carried the fight to his opponent for a few minutes. In the final round, however, Johnson rolled up points easily, and Meehan was tired and winded when the bout ended.

Ray Pelkey and Young Fisher fought a four round draw. They are middleweights.

Eddie Kelly had little difficulty in disposing of Teddy Seidman in a four round special event. The men are bantamweights.

Dandy Dillon Disqualified

Seattle, Sept. 28.—Dandy Dillon of Minneapolis must give up $100 to the community fund of this city, ruled the Seattle boxing commission. This is a penalty for butting, for which Dillon was disqualified in a bout here awarded to Tod Morgan of Vallejo, Calif., Pacific coast feather-weight champion.

Naval Air Trophy, The Schneider Cup, Won by Us Today

(By United Press)

Cowes, England, Sept. 28.—The United States won the Schneider cup, the world's first naval air trophy, here today.

An American seaplane covered the course in 72 minutes, 26 4-5 seconds. This is the first time the United States has won the cup.

The winning seaplane was piloted by Lieut. Irwin D. Rittenhouse, U. S. Navy. There were two American starters, one French and one British.

The British pilot, Baird, was disqualified for leaving the water before crossing the starting line.

The United States originally had four entries, with Lieuts. Frank W. Rutledge, Rittenhouse, Adolphus Gordon and Charles Fox, but one of the planes, a 700 horsepower Navy-Wright racer, crashed in the trials Monday and did not start.

Won First and Second Places

Cowes, England, Sept. 28.—The United States Navy won first and second places in the international seaplane race for the Schneider cup here today.

Lieut. David Rittenhouse was first and Lieut. Rutledge Irvine second. The sole British entrant, Capt. Baird, finished third.

The winner's time over the course of 200 nautical miles was one hour, 12 minutes, 26 4-5 seconds. His fastest speed was 177.38 miles an hour, or 39 miles an hour faster than the previous record.

Gentleness Always Best.

Gentleness is far more successful in all its enterprises than violence; indeed, violence generally frustrates its own purpose, while gentleness scarcely ever fails.—Locke.
